V. FOOD SUPPLY
José Manuel Palacios Alberti

1. INTRODUCTION
1.1. Food and society
1.2. The concept of food safety
1.3. Food production and distribution

2. FOOD SAFETY: CURRENT SITUATION AND FORSEEABLE EVOLUTION
2.1. Worldwide food production
2.1.1. Food of vegetable origin
2.1.2. Food of animal origin
2.2. Worldwide food trade and safety
2.2.1. Distortion factors in worldwide food trade
2.2.2. Tools for changing the worldwide, agricultural commercial model: Uruguay and Doha negotiation rounds
2.3. The evolution of food safety at regional level: three examples

3. POSSIBILITIES OF AN INCREASE IN FOOD PRODUCTION
3.1. The limiting factors of food production
3.1.1. Basic factors: land, water and fertilizers
3.1.2. Biotic and abiotic harvest conditions
3.1.3. Other factors which could affect food safety
3.2. Using biotechnology as a tool for improving food security
3.2.1. Biotechnology and crop improvement
3.2.2. Biotechnological possibilities of increasing food safety: realities and problems

4. DIRECTIVES FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF WORLDWIDE FOOD SAFETY

5. BIBLIOGRAPHY