ROLES

The candidate for this post will work alongside the co-chairs of WG5 and other members of the COST Action titled "The Digital and Multimodal Practices of Young Children" (digilitey.eu). Working Group 5 is focused on methodological and ethical issues in the study of young children's digital literacies. The post-doctoral researcher will help co-chairs with the implementation of a number of dissemination activities around methodological issues through social media, blogs and on-line videos WG5 has planned for the coming months. In addition, the researcher will collaborate in the preparation of written reports related to the goals of WG5. Work will involve: (a) coordinating with WG co-chairs, contacting potential contributors for the entries, and managing the final publication of the materials; (b) supervision and updating of the research methodology database WG5 has created; (c) co-writing research reports related to the final actions of WG5.

REQUIREMENTS

The working language of this position is English, thus the candidate should have excellent oral and written skills in English. In addition, the candidate should have a good command of popular social media and digital publishing tools such as Twitter, Youtube or Wordpress (or a strong willingness to learn how to use them). The candidate should also have established research experience in the area of digital technologies and young children and an interest in contemporary methodological debates in childhood research.

APPLICATIONS

Please send a 1-page cover letter and current CV by e-mail to David Poveda, Facultad de Psicología, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid (david.poveda@uam.es). Questions regarding this post should also be addressed to David Poveda by e-mail. All applications should be received by December 15th, 2018 to be considered for the post.
